In response to the labor shortage in Japan, last year an amendment was made to the Immigration Control and Refugee Recognition Act, allowing for more foreign workers to be accepted into the country with newly organized residence visas. Kanazawa also expects to have an increasing number of foreign citizens. These citizens will work together with us to help to support our region. Based off the NHK program Salameshi, this exhibition displays the "Lunches of Working Foreigners" from various working backgrounds, each of which contains its own hidden story about its owner. This year's exhibition also includes some sequel panels based off of panels which appeared in last year's exhibition.
